

From: Preston B

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have recently discovered that the small but beautiful piece of land known as Kenilworth Green is on a list of sites the council considers suitable for sell off/development. This piece of land wedged as it is between the railway line and the road adds greatly to the ambience of the area and it actively used as a meeting and socialising area for the residents in the neighbourhood. It is tended by the residents association, indeed it is the residents who are responsible for planting a large proportion of the greenery that makes this little spot such an asset to the area.

To sell it off for development would be to damage the area forever and as it is so well looked after and loved by the residents I hope you can remove this plot from your list of potential development sites.